Language Arts

- Students made Pirates to practice the “ar” sound.
- Last week we read multiple Dr. Seuss stories to celebrate his birthday.
- We read a story and identified the story structure: characters, beginning, middle, end, problem, and solution.
- In writing, the students are working through the writing process: brainstorm, rough draft, teacher review, final draft.

Math

- Our class is rocking their way through the My Math work books, I am very impressed. We will be finished with them in a few weeks.
- Currently we are working through chapter 9 on shapes and hope to be finished before spring break.
- Keep practicing with your students at home to read clocks to the hour and half hour, they are doing a great job!

Enjoy Spring Break!

PLAY OUTSIDE

Homework

This week homework and baggie book are due THURSDAY!

We are so close to our pizza party for reading 100 baggie books as a class! Keep up the great work!

A note from Ms. Hardy!

Are you smarter than a first grader? (If returned students get a dojo point)
Discuss with your student: What does NED, from the assembly, stand for?

Thank you to everyone that donated to our classroom basket for the carnival. It looked wonderful! It was great to see you all at conferences and the carnival. I hope you enjoyed it.

Have a wonderful spring break!!
